

WE MUST NEVER FORGET

It has been three years since the United States suffered the tragedies of 9-11. In that time our nation has begun the processes of healing, rebuilding and the pursuit of justice. As each new day brings the future, we must never forget the horror of that day or the crushing grief that followed. We must never forget the loss of civilian lives and the loss of those dedicated to protect and serve. While our hearts and our tears remain for the many survivors, we must use our memories to create a safer, stronger tomorrow for the generations of Americans yet to come.
